County commissioners ballot measures: A salary decrease if the board expands?

Over these three weeks, we'll use our online poll to address each of the ballot measures that propose structural changes to the Jackson County Board of Commissioners. This week, we focus on decreasing the salaries of the commissioners to $75,000, should the board be increased to five members. Proponents say this will bring the commissioners in line with other county leaders in the state. The county has said that reducing the salaries won't save money because of additional costs that would come with increasing the size of the board.
